PLUCKY GIRL MAKES GOOD

place. The big Schacht car at Port and King streets was besieged by an excited crowd and time after time hurry-up orders came to the Bulletin office for "more papers."

Miss List has made a lot of admirers here by her cleverness and Pleased With Honolulu.

"I am much pleased with Honolulu and the newsmen are all right. The three boys I had with me did good work, and the little Japanese, the youngest and smallest one in the bunch, sold more papers than the others and won the cash prize that I offered."

This afternoon Miss List started out with the first edition of the Evening Bulletin at 2:30 and will be on the streets with the second edition of the paper as soon as it is off the press.

Boys Interested.

The newsmen are taking lots of interest in the newsgirl and those with hile and the look of deep contentment an interest on their faces, as the machine starts off, is good to see.

Schacht Car Helps.

The courtesy of E. J. Sidney in offering Miss List the Schacht touring car to take her from place to place helps her get around quickly, and the car with its banners on sides and back telling of the Bulletin and the Around-the-World trip attracts lots of attention on the streets wherever it stands.

Will Make Hustlers.

"I want to instill the spirit of American hustle into these chaps in Honolulu that has made the boys on the mainland famous," said Miss List, and when it is realized that in Denver she and Miss Adair sold 1000 copies of the Post in less than three hours, it must be admitted that she is something of a hustler.

Is On the Job.

This afternoon, in a Schacht touring car, Miss List is on the downtown streets with copies of the Bulletin, and with her are several of the regular newsmen of the paper.

Watch for Her.

Watch for the Oklahoma newsgirl, and when you find her you will not wonder that she made a successful trip covering 17,000 miles, over all of which distance she has made her own expenses as a newsgirl.

What She Thinks.

"The germ of wanderlust was never conceived in the sun-dried heart of the hitchhiker-post. It is only the soul of the imaginative person that longs to see and know the beauties of the world," said Miss List, and that expresses her sentiment in starting out on a world-encircling trip, earning her own way from the start.

That the people will not be behind those of the mainland in their patronage of the charming newsgirl goes without saying.

Business Proposition.

She buys her papers and sells them, making the same profit that the newsmen do, and there is no charity connected with the deal in any manner. Miss List is much too independent for that even if it should be proposed.

Miss List is an accomplished horse-woman, and it is likely that she will sell her papers from the back of one of Honolulu's most striking horses some afternoon while she is in the city.

"Cap" Hendrickson, "Spec" Holt and "Monkey" Moon, three newsmen of different nationalities who helped Miss List sell the Bulletin yesterday. "Monkey," the Chinese boy, won the cash prize offered by Miss List for selling the most papers.

straightforward methods, and the way she made good yesterday proves they are right.

"I sold nearly five hundred papers yesterday afternoon," said Miss List, "and I found everybody most pleasant and courteous to me everywhere I went."

the gambling spirit think the stunt is a great sport.

How Boys are Chosen.

All the newsmen draw numbers out of a hat and the boys who draw one, two, three and four are the ones detailed to accompany Miss List on her daily trip.

It is the first experience that some of them have ever had in an automo-

NEW ACTS GO WELL AT "BIG 3" THEATERS

There's a bewitching quality to the singing of Miss Merle of the new team of Pastor and Merle, now at the Empire, ranging from deep, sonorous bass notes to the lilting upper notes so common in coon melodies. Her's is an unusual voice and her smile is catching. She received applause last night on her first appearance which fairly rocked the house. Pastor is a comic valentine in looks and an Al knockabout character artist. His acrobatic performance is a scream. The team is a drawing card of the first water. Princess Susana and Foley and Earle complete a splendid bill.

King and Lovell at the Savoy put on a new sketch, "A False Alarm," at the conclusion of which the audience paid them a tribute with unstinted applause. Mr. King, in Australian fire brigade uniform, has a dream and his recitative of a terrible fire is well sustained, partly with a short reel of film. The act is clever. Jones, the colored comedian, is doing a solo act this week, and the Anker Sisters present some pretty dances.

The Bijou has a very strong program, including the two African lions tamed upon the stage in a steel-bar cage by Mme. Schell. The snarling brutes were in a nasty temper last evening but were kept subdued by their little trainer. Younger Brothers gave a comedy sketch "In Bumpville" in which they did many acrobatic stunts. They are strong men and do comedy well. The Russell Sisters gave a new dance with electrical effects, called the butterfly dance, a very beautiful stage scene. All new films.

HE SAW THE PEA GREEN LIONS

Antone Benovitz made the welkin ring in the vicinity of King and Nuuanu streets late last evening, and upon being taken to the central police station it was found that the man required medical attention.

Benovitz has been hitting the gay and primrose trail at a pretty steep clip of late, and through a persistent use of spirituous mixtures he began to tell his friends of many strange beasts and reptiles which appeared to swarm the downtown streets of Honolulu. He is now a patient at the Queen's Hospital.
